

Lindsay
Wildlife
Experience

California Valley Quail

The state bird of California can be found foraging for seeds on the ground near brushy areas where they like to hide. These adorable birds are being pushed from parts of their range throughout California and the Northwest due to loss of habitat. Listen for their bouncy call that sounds like they're saying Chi-ca-go!
Chi-ca-go!

